Using Projector and Classroom Computer/ iPad in Zoom Room with No Attendees

Even if you are not planning to Zoom anyone into your class, you will still use the Zoom Room controls (the iPad mini remote) to control the functions of the hardware in your classroom including projector, computer console, or screen sharing with your iPad.

Below are instructions on how to use the projector and classroom computer/i-Pad:

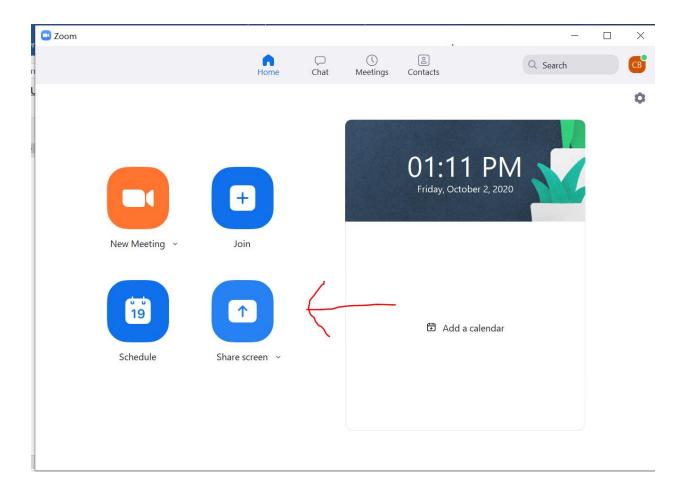

- 1. When entering your classroom, turn on room projector with controls located on the wall
- 2. If iPad mini is asleep, just wake it up and it will go to main screen (see below a picture of controls)
- 3. If you want to use the classroom computer:
 - a. Using your classroom computer, log into Zoom (via Zoom app) by selecting SSO

c. This should take you to your Zoom account with the screen below: i. You want to push "Share Screen"

- d. You should be taken to a Screen Broadcasting Screen:
 - i. Select Zoom and then "Start Broadcasting"
 - iv. At that point you are sharing your iPad screen

- ii. If for any reason, it does not let you broadcast you might need to go and check your iPad settings:
 - 1. Go into your iPad setting
 - 2. Push on Control Center:

Using Zoom Room for Virtual Attendees Using Classroom Computer/ iPad

Our new Zoom Rooms allow you and your students in-seat to see any students attending virtually.

The two displays in the back of the room allow you, as the instructor, to see not only your PowerPoint, Prezi, video, or any other visuals as the remote attendees see them, but also the students turning in remotely on Zoom:

In the front of the room you will have your usual classroom screen and a display showing students attending remotely via Zoom. This is for all the in-seat students to be able to see those attending remotely.

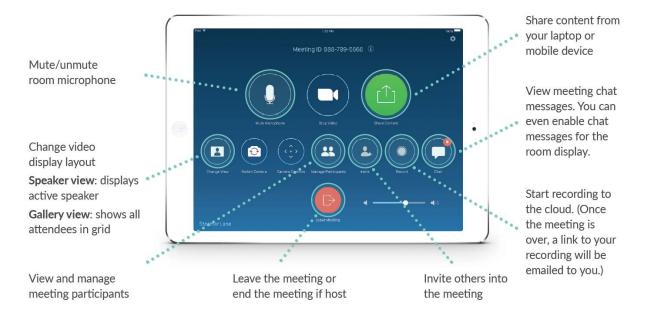

The room is also outfitted with speakers that contain microphones. This allows everyone in the room to hear those attending virtually but also allows those attending virtually to hear the instructor and students inseat.

Your camera in the room will not automatically follow you when you move, but you can adjust its width and where it is pointing so it is where you want it.

The hardware in the room (speakers, displays, microphones, and camera) is controlled by an iPad mini that serves as a remote control. This will stay in the room at all times, plugged in so that it is ready for anyone who needs it. See image of controls below.

You can also use the mini to control your meeting, but for now we are showing you how to use your computer console or your iPad to control the Zoom meeting.

How to use the Zoom Room to for Virtual Attendees:

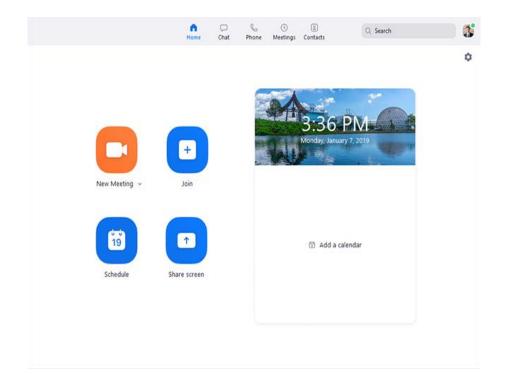

Using your classroom computer console for Zoom Room:

- 1. When entering your classroom, turn on room projector with controls located on the wall
- 2. If iPad mini is asleep, just wake it up and it will go to main screen (see picture above)
- 3. Using your classroom computer, log into Zoom (via Zoom app) by selecting SSO

- ii. Find your classroom and push on it:
 - 1. This will invite your room to your meeting
 - 2. You will hear your iPad mini ring. You will accept the meeting invite on the iPad mini much like answering a phone. Once you accept, your Zoom Room is activated
- iii. You will know the Zoom Room is working when you see your meeting on the display.
 - 1. Any adjustments you need to make for video, sound, camera—you do so through the iPad mini
- d. From here you can use your computer console to control screen sharing and anything you want your students to see on main class screen.
- e. When finished with class, just end meeting. That will deactivate the Zoom Room.
